A SONDER REVIEW.

Through the courtesy of Mr. J. A. B. Bank, of the Old Bathurst Corp., London, we are enabled to present the following interesting and valuable information:

The Bank of England has recently established a new branch at the Bank of England, London, and the directors have kindly granted us the use of their premises for the purpose of exhibiting the following articles:

1. A large collection of Chinese export porcelain, including a complete set of the celebrated "Nanking" porcelain, which is stated to be of great value.

2. A large collection of silver plate, including a set of the celebrated "Paul Revere" silver, which is stated to be of great value.

3. A large collection of English and Scottish antique furniture, including a set of the celebrated "Chippendale" furniture, which is stated to be of great value.

4. A large collection of rare and valuable manuscripts, including a copy of the "Majus" manuscript, which is stated to be of great value.

5. A large collection of rare and valuable coins, including a set of the celebrated "Liberty" coins, which is stated to be of great value.

The above articles are all on view in the exhibition room of the Bank of England, London, and are open to inspection by the public.

The Bank of England, London, would be pleased to receive orders for any of the above articles, and would be pleased to furnish further information on request.

WAGES v. DIVIDENDS.

Upon the share register of the Newcastle and Hunter River Bank & Co. Ltd, we find W. F. Adams, Mrs. Adams, Mrs. Adams and Mr. F. Adams. In fact, I know of no other W. F. Adams, Mrs. Adams, Mrs. Adams and Mr. F. Adams.

The general manager of the Bank, Mr. F. Adams, tells me that W. F. Adams, Mrs. Adams, Mrs. Adams and Mr. F. Adams are all alive and well.

The bank has a policy of paying dividends to shareholders, but these dividends are subject to change given business conditions.

A judge or magistrate should be appointed to rule on such cases to ensure that no one is unfairly treated.
