WASHINGTON MONETARY CONFERENCE FAILS
ERNEST MANDEL

November 14, 1975

For the flurry of activity, the Finance ministers of the major countries concluded their firstever monetary conference September 26, 1975, there was inevitably little agreement. In the aftermath of the European Community's monetary conference, which took place in July 1975, the British Treasury launched a lobbying campaign to win the support of the other major European countries. However, the conference was far from unanimous, with the United States and Japan opposing the European Community's proposals. The conference was also overshadowed by the ongoing debate over the balance of payments adjustment mechanism, with the United States advocating a more flexible approach and the European Community preferring a fixed exchange rate system.

REDUNDANCY ON THE WHARVES
Diane Zetlin

The redundancies on the wharves have been particularly severe in the shipbuilding and ship repair industries, which have been hit hard by the ongoing recession. The number of redundancies has been particularly high in the shipbuilding industry, where the number of redundancies has been estimated to be around 10,000. The redundancies have had a significant impact on the wharves, with many workers losing their jobs and the wharves facing financial difficulties.

Fixing the blame for pollution
Nita Keig

The place of the pekinger in the business world is no longer taken for granted. In fact, the peking businessman is now more likely to be viewed with suspicion, especially by those in the United States who have not had the opportunity to experience the unique charm of Chinese culture. The peking is known for its contribution of the Great Wall of China and the Terracotta Army, but it is also known for its pollution and environmental issues.

The MSA’s victory over SafeWays in its dispute with ABC has been hailed as a major win for the union. The settlement includes a 7% wage increase for the union’s members, as well as a commitment from SafeWays to improve working conditions and reduce pollution.

Cathal GoFillag on the Crisis in Ireland
Interview with IRA leader

Q: What future plans do you have for integrating the IRA's struggle for a republic and the Fenian struggle for a republic in the USA?

N: We believe that the activities of a revolutionary group in the USA should be as close to the activities of the IRA in Ireland as possible. In both cases, we have the support of the people, and we are fighting for the same cause.

Q: Do you see any parallels between the civil rights movement in the USA and the struggle in Ireland?

N: Yes, we do. The civil rights movement in the USA is fighting for the same basic rights as the IRA is fighting for in Ireland. Both movements are struggling against imperialism and the oppression of the people. We support the civil rights movement and believe that it is a necessary part of the struggle for a free and independent Ireland.

Q: What can the IRA do to support the civil rights movement in the USA?

N: We can support the civil rights movement in many ways. We can provide moral and material support to the movement, and we can help to spread the message of the movement. We can also support the Loyalist and Unionist movements in Ireland, which are fighting for the same goals as the IRA.

Q: What do you think are the prospects for a united Ireland in the near future?

N: We believe that the prospects for a united Ireland are better than ever. The people of Ireland are now more aware of the need for a united Ireland, and they are more willing to fight for it. We believe that the time is ripe for a united Ireland, and we are ready to fight for it.

Q: What role do you see for the IRA in the future?

N: We believe that the IRA will continue to play a key role in the struggle for a united Ireland. We will continue to fight for the rights of the people of Ireland, and we will continue to support the civil rights movement in the USA.

Q: What can the IRA do to ensure the continued support of the people?

N: We can ensure the continued support of the people by maintaining a strong organization, and by continuing to fight for the rights of the people. We will continue to work with the people, and we will continue to listen to their needs and concerns. We will continue to fight for the rights of the people, and we will continue to support the civil rights movement in the USA.

Q: What is the relationship between the IRA and the Fenian movement?

N: We believe that the IRA and the Fenian movement are fighting for the same goals. Both movements are fighting for the rights of the people, and both movements are fighting against imperialism. We support the Fenian movement and believe that it is a necessary part of the struggle for a free and independent Ireland.

We will continue to fight for the rights of the people, and we will continue to support the civil rights movement in the USA.

The Zimbabwean government has given its answer to the Heath-Smith deal, rejecting the proposal and calling for a return to the 1979 agreement. BANGALORE

Dear Editor,

I wish to reiterate the point made in your last issue concerning the Bengali problem in Bangladesh. The government of Bangladesh and the Bangladesh Nationalist Party (BNP) supported by the American Nixon administration have been persecuting Bengalis in Bangladesh. The situation is extremely grave and the Bengalis are facing a very uncertain future. I consider it my duty to bring this to your notice.

Sincerely,

MAY DAY

From a reader:

I am afraid that I have to disagree with the argument presented in your May Day issue. The May Day parade was a means to express solidarity with the workers of the world, and this is the true meaning of the May Day parade. The parade was not about class struggle or political ideology, but about unity and peace. The fact that some of the participants wore red scarves may be an indication of their political affiliation, but it is not the main focus of the parade. The main focus was on the unity and solidarity of the workers of the world.

Sincerely,

NEW PEOPLE'S HERO?

Jill McCloy

Over the past year, many young people have been inspired by the life and achievements of Jill McCloy, a 25-year-old social activist in Bangladesh. McCloy has been included in Forbes magazine's list of the world's most influential people.

If you appreciate McCloy's advocacy for the rights of women and children in Bangladesh, then you should consider donating to the Jill McCloy Fund. The fund supports McCloy's work and helps other activists who work towards the same goal.

The new Soviet mental illness: political opposition

Michel Lequenne's "expert evaluation" and the testimony of some Italian sources.

"Don't you feel yourself capable of broadening the Soviet political regime?" Because if that's the case, I mean, you're not allowed to think twice. "Because the USSR is not a democracy. It's a socialist state."

"Should the RGB be interested in the current situation?"

"Because of my understandable opinion: the last communist party?"

"Don't you present your situation before the people who want to know the truth?"

"Yes."

"But the people don't want to be."

"Yes."

"Then it's not a secret."

"Yes."

"The current situation may be a problem for you."

"Yes."

"But the people don't want to know the truth."

"Yes."

"Then you have to be careful."
If you oppose the Vietnam war and conscription, if you want a socialist Australia, if you support the struggle for women's liberation, the struggle for socialist democracy in Eastern Europe, China and USSR and the struggle for national liberation throughout the world — join the SOCIALIST YOUTH ALLIANCE.
