SYDNEY BUS STRIKE
COL. MAYNARD

The long, drawn-out dispute between Sydney bus drivers and the S.T.A., government, has in the past few months devolved itself into a complex and often bitter battle against the strike. The strike began on the evening of New Year's Eve, and has now lasted for five weeks, with no indication of a settlement in sight.

The strike is the latest in a series of industrial disputes which have rocked the state recently. It is the largest and most prolonged strike the city has seen in many years.

In the past few days, the government has attempted to negotiate a settlement with the strike leaders, but these attempts have been unsuccessful. The government has threatened to call in the police if the strike continues, but the drivers have vowed to keep striking until their demands are met.

The strike has caused widespread disruption to public transport in the city, with many people being forced to travel by car or taxi.

TRAMWAYS STRIKE

The tram workers have been on strike for over a month now, and there is no end in sight. The workers are demanding better pay and conditions, but the company is refusing to budge.

ABORTION CAMPAIGN

LEGAL VICTORY

On October 28th, the High Court of Australia ruled that the state ban on abortion is unconstitutional. This is a historic victory for the abortion rights movement.

The decision was a 7-2 majority, with the majority opinion written by Justice Windeyer, who stated that the ban is a violation of the right to privacy and the right to a fair trial.

Austalian Actions

In Melbourne, the Labor Party has won a majority of seats, and the government has committed to legalizing abortion in the state.

In Sydney, the Green Party has won a majority of seats, and the government has committed to legalizing abortion in the state.

In Brisbane, the Labor Party has won a majority of seats, and the government has committed to legalizing abortion in the state.

The National Abortion Rights Action League (NARAL) has filed a lawsuit against the state of Texas, challenging the state's ban on abortion.

The lawsuit was filed on behalf of a woman named Jane Doe, who was denied an abortion at a Texas clinic.

The lawsuit argues that the ban is unconstitutional, and that women have a right to choose whether or not to have an abortion.

MARCH ACTION CAMPAIGN FOR THE LIBERATION OF WOMEN

A campaign for the liberation of women will be held in March next year.

The campaign will focus on issues such as access to reproductive health care, equal pay, and the end of violence against women.

Women demand:

1. The right to work
2. The right to health
3. The right to education
4. The right to freedom
5. The right to peace

The campaign will be a powerful statement in support of women's rights and will be a bold step towards a more just and equal society.
THE PENAL POWERS
SHACKLING THE UNIONS FROM CHILFLEY TO CAMERON

For more than a decade since the advent of the Labor government in the 1960s, the penal powers of the unions have been in the spotlight. The unions have been accused of using their powers to control the workforce and to discourage opposition. The recentralized nature of the unions has been criticized for allowing them to act as a political force rather than as a bargaining entity.

The death of the Labor government in 1966 has brought a new era in the relationship between the unions and the government. The Labor government has been quick to assert its power over the unions, particularly in relation to issues such as wages and conditions. The government has also been critical of the unions' role in the industrial relations system.

On November 5, United Nations delegates from around the world met in London to discuss the future of the International Labor Organization (ILO). The ILO was established in 1919 to promote better working conditions and to improve the lot of workers around the world. The delegates were concerned about the current state of the world economy and the impact of globalization on working conditions.

In response to the delegates' concerns, the government has announced a new program of labor laws that will increase the power of the unions. The program includes measures such as the introduction of a new minimum wage for workers, the establishment of a national pay board, and the reform of the industrial relations system.

The government has also been critical of the unions' role in the political system. The government has stated that the unions have become too powerful and too influential, and that they have used their power to influence government policy and to suppress opposition. The government has announced plans to review the role of the unions in the political system and to consider ways to reduce their influence.

THE CHINA PUZZLE

On September 29, the government announced a new policy of détente with China. This policy is seen as a significant step towards improving relations between the two countries. The announcement was made by the Prime Minister, who stated that the government was committed to improving relations with China and to developing closer ties with the country.

The policy of détente is seen as an important step towards improving economic relations between the two countries. The government has announced plans to invest in infrastructure projects in China, including rail links and roads, and to increase trade between the two countries.

The government has also stated that it is committed to improving human rights in China. The government has stated that it will continue to press China on human rights issues, and that it will work with the Chinese government to improve the living conditions of the people.

Langer Freed

Langer had been a prominent Labor figure for many years, and his departure is expected to have a significant impact on the party. The Labor leader is expected to announce a new candidate to take his place in the seat of the district.

The Labor leader has stated that the party is committed to democracy and to upholding the principles of a fair and open system. The Labor leader has also stated that the party will continue to work with the public to develop policies that are fair and just for all Australians.
TOWARDS A BLACK PARTY
AN OPEN LETTER BY BOBBI SYKES

Dear Friends,

I am concerned that the current political situation in Australia is one which must be fought for by all people of good will. I am writing this letter to express my concern for the future of our country and to urge all Australians to unite in order to create a better future for ourselves and our children.

The current political system in Australia is inadequate to meet the needs of the people. There is a need for a new political party that will truly represent the interests of all people, regardless of race, gender, or social status.

As an open letter, I am calling on all Australians to consider joining a new political party that will fight for the rights of all people. I urge all Australians to join me in this fight for a better future for our country.

Sincerely,

Bobbi Sykes
THE POLLUTION CRISIS

How can we save our environment?

The pollution crisis has been described as one of the greatest challenges facing humanity today.

Although many examples exist, the problem of pollution is evident in almost every aspect of our lives.

The effects of pollution are far-reaching and pose a serious threat to the health and well-being of both humans and the environment.

One of the most significant environmental issues is air pollution.

Air pollution results in respiratory problems, heart disease, and cancer.

Water pollution is also a major concern, as it affects the quality of water sources and the health of aquatic life.

The press that Direct Action is printed on is a lot more sophisticated than this one. But precisely because of the way we do it, we pay the printing costs and thereby keep the paper free. We want to produce a paper that is current and relevant to the left movement and to its allies. We are trying to raise a minimum of $1,000 by 1972 to print our paper on a sound footing for the next year. So far we've raised $720. With less than a month to go we need your help urgently to get over the top.
