SOVIET ACTS FOR PEACE

From the resolution of the 20th Congress of the Communist Party of the Soviet Union.

The Congress instructs the Central Committee of the CPSU consistently to continue serving mankind in practice the principle of peaceful coexistence, to assert Russia's independence and contend for world peace, the abolition of war, and in full support of the policies of the world communist and people's movements.

The Soviet people, whose safety and security depend on the world peace and their national independence, are dissatisfied with the anti-Soviet activities of the United States and consider that the Soviet Union must take all necessary measures to protect its national interests.

POLICY POINTS

- A leader of the Soviet Union should be present at the UN; and the Soviet Union should have a voice in the world community.
- The Soviet Union should not be a member of the UN, but should be present at it.
- The Soviet Union should not be a member of the UN, but should be present at it.

WHO OWNS AUSTRALIA?

A number of publications on foreign investment in Australia, especially in the form of a joint venture, are of special interest to a group of persons who have been engaged in the study of the problem of Australian ownership. These publications have been the subject of much discussion in recent years, and they have been of particular interest to the Australian investor in particular. The study of these publications has been published recently, and it is hoped that they will stimulate further discussion on the subject.

RE-INVESTED

Investment in Australia has been substantial. In 1976, the Australian Investment Fund invested $25 million in Australia. This investment was made through the Fund, which is owned by a number of Australian companies. The Fund has been successful in its endeavors, and it is hoped that it will continue to invest in Australia.

SOVIET ACTS FOR PEACE

From the resolution of the 24th Congress of the Communist Party of the Soviet Union:

"The Congress instructs the Central Committee of the CPSU consistently to continue carrying forward into practice the principle of peaceful coexistence in mutual, mutually advantageous relations with the capitalist countries. The Soviet Union is prepared to desire relations also with the United States of America. Posing that the interests both of the Soviet and the capitalist countries, including the benefits of the peoples of both countries, will be achieved if the different fields of international relations are turned into channels of cooperation between the two nations."

OPPOSSING NIXON'S ESCALATION, DEMONSTRATES BLOCK LOWER PITT STREET, SYDNEY

"Stop Nixon now" said protestors

A long way from the rest of the world, the Australian people protest against President Nixon's escalation of the Vietnam war with his blockade policy last month.

Demonstration and other forms of protest involved many people from all walks of life. Rights groups, uniting the women, stopped work in protest. The Socialist Party's protest was peaceful - it condemned Nixon's action, which threatened the peace of the world.

SFA reports the last part of the demonstration but that it was joined by the organised workers and a small crowd outside the Vietnam House.

War in the way of internationalism. Peace in the way of socialism.

The Moscow summit talks were held in a situation in which the Soviet Union presented new positions of great strength, consistently applying its policy for world peace, for the disarmament of tension, and in full support of the people of the world struggling against imperialist domination.

The Soviet Union's support of the Vietnam people is based on the realities of the present-day world, for independence and peace for their countries is the foundation of national liberation. The Vietnam people, said the slogan of the March 3 rally in Hanoi, are the most important allies the people of the world can have.

The summit talks, even in its present, as "SPA" went to press, had already brought about certain achievements in a number of fields.

Some representations at the talks included the following points:

1. The Congress of the Communist Party of the Soviet Union and the Congress of the People's Deputies of the Soviet Union held in Moscow on the eve of the Munich visit. It issued a report by L. Brezhnev on the international situation and restored the fundamental work in carrying out the 24th Congress policy, which included:

   POLICY POINTS
   1. A fight to achieve the methods of war in Southeast Asia and the Middle East, including total support for the worldwide anti-war movement for the realization of an early solution to the world's problems.
   2. A struggle against muscular, blusterous, and nationalistic policies, and for a world of friendship and cooperation.
   3. Implementation of United Nations decisions on phasing remaining colonial relations.
   4. The USSR's opposition of relations of mutually advantageous cooperation in all areas with gaps between the Soviet Union and the United Nations.

The negotiations were an important step forward in the world, for relations between the two analytical and constructive nations. It is a step towards the establishment of a new, just, and progressive world order.

The goal of the United Nations is to achieve a world free from war and to promote peace and prosperity for all. The United Nations is a symbol of hope for the future of humanity.

Only PATH

With the historic nucleur weapons, we can live in a peaceful future. However, the Middle East and other regions must also be considered in the realization of a world free from war.

The Vietnamese people themselves are the main force in the fight for peace. The Vietnamese people have been fighting for peace for many years, and they have achieved many victories. The Vietnamese people have a strong will to live in peace.

Marxist-Leninist theory teaches us that the people of the world, including the Vietnamese people, are the main force in the fight for peace.

In conclusion, the world can achieve peace through the cooperation of the Vietnamese people. Peace in the way of socialism.
