RETURN TO LABOR
DEVELOP ANTI-MONOPOLY STRUGGLE

The election of the Labor government in December 1972 ushered in a period of innovation in Australian politics after 23 years of stultifying reaction under the Liberal-Country Party coalition.

In the short 16 months the Labor Government has shown the way to a new type of politics. It is a politics which challenges the old, discredited policies of the past. It is a politics which is committed to the interests of all the people, not just a few. It is a politics which is determined to build a better society for all.

The Labor Government has taken a number of important steps in this direction:

- It has introduced new social security measures, including a basic pension for all citizens, regardless of age or income. This has been widely praised as a positive step towards social justice.
- It has taken action to reduce inflation and provide more jobs for those who want them. This has been seen as an example of how a Labor government can work for the benefit of all.
- It has introduced new measures to support small businesses and encourage economic growth. This has been welcomed as a way to support the local economy and create more jobs.

These are just a few of the examples of how the Labor Government has been working to improve the lives of all Australians. They show that a Labor government can be a progressive force in society, not just a conservative one that is only interested in protecting the interests of the rich and powerful.

A Socialist for Sydney

The Labor Government's achievements are a clear indication of the benefits of a socialist government. It shows that a socialist government can work for the benefit of all people, not just a few. It shows that a socialist government can be a force for social justice, economic growth, and a better society for all.

For these reasons, Socialist Party candidates stand firm in support of the Labor Government. We believe that it is the only way to build a better society for all. We urge all people to vote for Labor in the next election, so that we can continue to build a better society for all Australians.

SOCIALIST CANDIDATES

FOR SYDNEY
Mr. Pat Clancy, President of the Socialist Party of Australia and Federal Secretary of the Building Workers Industrial Union.

FOR MELBOURNE
Mr. John Mitchell, Chairman of the Socialist Party and Member of Parliament for the Federal electorate of Melbourne.

For the Socialist Party, the only way to build a better society for all is to support the Labor Government. It is the only way to ensure that the benefits of a socialist government are felt by all people, not just a few. We urge all people to support the Labor Government in the next election, so that we can continue to build a better society for all Australians.
LETTERS

BLUE POLES—LANDMARK TO RUBBISH TIP
BY VIC WILLIAMS

The exhibition of the painting Blue Poles and the Writers Week held in Melbourne recently is considered to be cultural events.

But both have a common denominator: the difference between the Australian and the international art scene. The exhibition features paintings and sculptures by Australian artists, as well as works by foreign artists, who are given equal opportunities to exhibit. The Writers Week, on the other hand, features writers from around the world, with Australian writers given equal opportunities to showcase their work.

The exhibition and the Writers Week both aim to promote cultural exchange and encourage artists from different backgrounds to come together. The event is seen as a stepping stone to help build bridges between nations and foster understanding.

But despite the positive aspects, there are concerns about the exhibition and the Writers Week. Some argue that the focus should be on supporting local artists and promoting Australian culture. Others believe that the international perspective is important for the development of Australian culture.

The exhibition and the Writers Week are both important events that contribute to the cultural exchange between Australia and the rest of the world. They provide a platform for artists and writers to share their work and ideas, and to engage with each other. The events are seen as a positive step towards building a more culturally diverse and inclusive society.

We encourage our readers to attend these events and support the artists and writers involved. Together, we can help build a stronger, more diverse, and more culturally aware community. welche Ihr Staatschef ist und wie Ihr Land gearbeitet zu haben haben.
COLLECTIVE SECURITY IN ASIA IS IN AUSTRALIA'S INTERESTS

BY W. J. BROWN

In the current Federal election candidates of the Socialist Party of Australia will emphasize the need for a policy of establishing a collective security system among all nations of Asia.

It is a policy that particularly suits Australia's hopes for a future of peace and security in this part of the world. It is a policy that might well be a component part of Labor's foreign policy.

Need for a collective security agreement is the very least of Labor's work in this area. The additional benefits in the form of expanded trade and a strengthened position in the world's economic and political structure would be of equal importance.

The agreement is a necessary step in the solution of the world's security problems. It is necessary to prevent the Communist spread of influence in the region.

An agreement would serve as a deterrent to aggression and would strengthen the position of the Communist bloc in the region.

MADISON AND IMPERIALISM

It is important that the present situation is recognized.

The two parties are not at odds. The Liberal Party's emphasis on economic development and the Labor Party's emphasis on social and institutional development are complementary.

The present situation is not a conspiracy. It is a situation where the Communist bloc is trying to strengthen its position in the region by establishing a collective security system.

CONFERENCE OF EUROPEAN COMMUNIST PARTIES

BY TOM NELSON

The Communist Party of the People's Republic of China is holding a conference of the Communist Parties of European countries.

The conference is being held to discuss the future of European communism and the need for a joint approach to the problems of Eastern Europe.

The Communist Parties of Europe are under attack from the capitalist bloc.

The aim of the conference is to strengthen the bonds between the Communist Parties of Europe and to work towards a joint strategy for the future of Europe.

EDUCATIONAL CASSETTE TAPES AVAILABLE

A special educational cassette tape has been produced by the Australian National University. The tape is available from the National Library of Australia.

The tape contains lectures on various topics, including: 1. The history of Australia 2. The development of agriculture in Australia 3. The role of the Australian army in the World Wars.

ECONOMIC CO-OPERATION SOCIALIST STYLE

The Council of Mutual Economic Assistance (CMEA) is the main body of the Warsaw Pact countries. It was established in 1950 to promote economic co-operation between the member states.

The CMEA focuses on the development of socialist economies, the most successful of which is the economy of the USSR.

The CMEA has been able to achieve a significant degree of economic co-operation among its members.

In recent years, the CMEA has been facing increasing economic challenges. The member states are trying to find ways to improve their economies and to reduce their dependence on the Soviet Union.

Two years of free abortion in the GDR

Since October 1976 the government of the German Democratic Republic has been providing free abortion for all women.

This policy has been introduced to address the problem of high birth rates. The government believes that free abortion will help to reduce the number of unwanted births and to improve the health of women.

Extended school hours answer for working parents

Many families with two parents working are finding it difficult to manage their children's after-school care.

Extended school hours will provide a solution to this problem. The schools will be open for longer hours, allowing parents to pick up their children later in the day.
INDUSTRIAL ROUND-UP

WORKERS' ACTIONS BRING GAINS

By JACK McPHILLIPS

In addition to wage increases, a series of significant increases and gains in working conditions have been achieved by workers in recent months. These gains have contributed to the overall improvement in the working conditions and living standards of workers in the industrial sector.

WHARFIES' $22.50 AND MORE

A significant wage increase of $22.50 per week has been negotiated for workers in the wharfing industry, bringing their wages up to $37.50 per week. This increase will have a positive impact on the living standards of workers in this sector.

MINERS' $25 PLUS

This year's wage negotiations for miners have resulted in a significant increase of $25 per week, bringing their wages up to $37.50 per week. The gains have been achieved through collective bargaining and the strength of the miners' union.

COMBINED UNIONS ATTACK WAGE DELAY

A recent report has revealed that many workers have experienced delays in receiving their wages, which has caused hardship and stress for many households. The combined unions have launched a campaign to demand prompt payment of wages.

AUTO WORKERS

In the automobile industry, negotiations have resulted in significant gains for workers, including a $15 increase in wages for many workers. The gains have been achieved through the strength of the workers' union and the ability to negotiate effectively.

BUILDING UNIONS' NATIONAL STAGEPAUSE

The building unions have called for a national stagepause, demanding a freeze on wage increases and the reversal of recent cuts in working conditions. The unions have been successful in achieving some of their demands through collective bargaining.

NATIONAL POWER

Workers in the national power sector have achieved a significant gain in their wages, with an increase of $15 per week. This gain has been achieved through the strength of the workers' union and the effectiveness of their negotiations.

HISTORIC UNION CONFERENCE OF WOMEN

The first union conference of women was held recently, bringing together women from various industries to discuss their issues and demands. The conference has been significant in increasing the visibility of women in the union movement.

FABULOUS YOUNG SOCIALIST CONGRESS

"Socialism Our Aim" report

The Congress was attended by a large number of delegates from various countries, representing a diverse range of social and political movements. The Congress was an important event in the socialist movement, providing a platform for the exchange of ideas and strategies.

Socialist Party greeted Congress

A message of greetings was delivered to the Congress by the Socialist Party, expressing solidarity and support. The party was pleased to see the diversity of the delegates and their commitment to the socialist cause.

Program Points

- The Young Socialists League of Australia is an organization of young people, committed to the socialist cause and dedicated to building a better future for all.

- The League stands for the independence of Australia, for a fairer distribution of wealth, and for the socialization of the means of production.

- The young people are the future of our society, and we must work to ensure that they are educated and equipped to lead in a socialist society.

- The League is proud to have played a significant role in the struggle for socialism, and we are committed to continuing this work in the years to come.

International Delegates Speak

Mr. Turi Tewolde, Secretary of the Peace Communist International, delivered an inspiring speech to the Congress, urging the delegates to work together for a better future. He emphasized the importance of unity and solidarity in the struggle for socialism.

All in all, the Congress was an important event in the socialist movement, bringing together a diverse range of delegates to discuss their issues and strategies. The Congress was a testament to the power of collective action and the importance of working together for a better future.
NEW FASCIST LINE PUBLICATION

A publication has made its appearance in Queensland recently, the "Queensland Calling," a monthly magazine. The appearance of this and other "anti-communist" publications is a source of concern to many Australians. The magazine is published in Brisbane and is distributed through various channels, including newsagents and bookstores.

Peace Councillors meet in Canberra

Australian members of the World Peace Council met in Canberra on April 3 to discuss the situation in the Middle East. The meeting was held at the Australian Peace Council headquarters on Russell Street. The council is committed to promoting peace and understanding among nations.

AUSTRALIAN GOODS AT LEIPZIG FAIR

By Tom Adler

At this year's Leipzig Spring Fair (a biennial event held in Leipzig), many Australian goods were displayed, attracting interest from buyers across the globe. The fair is a significant event for Australian exporters, providing an opportunity to showcase their products to potential buyers.

Liberals block Government Insurance

Seeking to protect their interests, Liberal members of the South Australian Legislative Council have blocked the introduction of a new insurance bill. The bill aims to regulate the insurance industry in the state, but the Liberal Party has withheld support for the legislation, citing concerns over its impact on the market.

AUSTRALIANS CALL: Implement Vietnam Agreements

A group of Australian anti-war activists called for the implementation of the Vietnam Peace Agreements. They are concerned about the impact of the war on innocent lives and call for a peaceful resolution to the conflict.

Implement Vietnam Agreements

We propose that the Australian government immediately take steps to implement the Vietnam Peace Agreements. These agreements provide a framework for ending the war and restoring peace to Vietnam.

Government Insur.